On the Move to Business Benefit

Time is always tight when the job is to move goods into and out of a country. Business processes need to be at their most efficient. The same holds true for moving documents during a migration project. Read this customer scenario to find out how one organization undertook a project using Vyapin's DockIt and realized more business benefit, on a shorter timeline for a fast and efficient migration from Windows file shares and personal drives to SharePoint 2010.
